

There are a dozen or so new pictures in the gallery. The term "new" in this case is relative as the photos were actually taken back in April during a combined training session with the Black Bears. Due to a combination of various circumstances it has taken a bit longer than usual to put the pictures into the gallery but better late than never! Hopefully there'll be plenty more pictures on display quite shortly after this weekends up coming game against the Aardvarx.