

Phantoms treasurer and most mature* net minder, Lee Scarratt, has decided to hang up his catcher for a while. At the moment Lee has other commitments that need to take priority over hockey and, although he won't be able to spend time between the pipes, he intends to remain an active member of the club and committee. Lee has said that even if he can't return to the net on a regular basis in the future he will make the occasional guest appearance to give the Phantoms the benefit of his skills.
